 - (b) include, where appropriate, references to the person’s position as regards any deductions or repayments of tax which the person is required to make –

 - (c) are references to the person’s tax position at any time, or in relation to any period, specified in an information notice.
- (3) This Part applies in addition to any other power of the Comptroller to seek information under the Revenue Laws, whether by way of a notice or return or otherwise.

27B Information notices: general³⁰

- (1) This Article applies where the Comptroller reasonably requires information as to a person’s tax position, and either –
 - (a) the person has been given a reasonable opportunity to deliver the information required, but has failed to do so; or
 - (b) the Comptroller reasonably suspects that, were a request for such information to be made, the person would seek to conceal or destroy the information.
- (2) Where this Article applies, the Comptroller may serve on the person a notice in writing that specifies –
 - (a) the information required; and
 - (b) the period, being not less than 30 days beginning with the date of service of the notice, within which the information must be provided to the Comptroller.
- (3) A notice may also specify such other matters as the Comptroller may consider reasonable, including –
 - (a) the manner and format in which the information or part of it is to be provided; and
 - (b) the place at which the information or part of it is to be made available.

27C Information notices: third parties³¹

- (1) This Article applies where the Comptroller reasonably requires from a third party, information as to the tax position of a person, or class of persons, other than that third party, and either –
 - (a) the Comptroller has already issued a notice under Article 27B; or
 - (b) the Comptroller considers that it would not be expedient in the circumstances to issue such a notice.
- (2) Where this Article applies, the Comptroller may serve on the third party a notice in writing (a “third party notice”) that specifies –
 - (a) the name of the person, or the bank account number or other details sufficiently identifying the person or class of persons, as to whose tax position the information is sought;
 - (b) the information required;
 - (c) the period, being not less than 30 days beginning with the date of service of the notice, within which the information must be provided to the Comptroller; and
 - (d) a warning that the third party is liable to prosecution if the third party discloses information relating to the notice to any person.
- (3) A third party notice may also specify other matters that the Comptroller considers reasonable, including –
 - (a) the manner and format in which the information or part of it is to be provided;
 - (b) the place at which the information or part of it is to be made available.
- (4) Where the Comptroller serves a third party notice, the Comptroller must, as soon as reasonably practicable after service of the notice, serve a copy of the notice on any person specifically identified in the notice.
- (5) However, the Comptroller is not required to serve a copy of a third party notice on a person if –
 - (a) the Comptroller does not know the person’s name or address;
 - (b) provision of the notice would identify or might identify a person who has provided information taken into account by the Comptroller in deciding whether or not to serve the notice; or
 - (c) the Comptroller is satisfied that serving a copy of the notice may prejudice the assessment, collection or recovery of tax or the investigation or prosecution of tax matters.
- (6) A person who knowingly and without reasonable excuse discloses, to any person other than the Comptroller –
 - (a) the fact that a third party notice has been served; or
 - (b) the contents of, or any information relating to, a third party notice, commits an offence and is liable to a fine of level 2 on the standard scale.

27D Appeals against information notices³²

- (1) A person on whom an information notice is served may appeal to the Commissioners against the notice by notifying the Comptroller in writing, no later than 30 days after the date of service of the notice.

- (2) Where an information notice requires information to be provided which comprises or includes a document, an appeal may be made on the grounds that the document is not in that person's possession or power.
- (2A) If an information notice requires information as to a person's position as regards any tax under the Multinational Taxation (IIR) Law or the MCIT Law, and it is served on a person that is a constituent entity of an MNE group (within the meaning of that Law), a document in the possession or power of 1 constituent entity of the MNE group is treated, for the purpose of paragraph (2), as being in the possession or power of all of the constituent entities of that group.³³
- (3) An appeal against a third party notice may be made only –
 - (a) on such grounds as are stated in paragraph (2); or
 - (b) on the grounds that compliance with the notice is unduly onerous.
- (4) Part 6 of the Income Tax Law applies, with the necessary modifications, to an appeal under this Article as if it were an appeal under that Law against an assessment.
- (5) Where an appeal is made under this Article, the information notice is of no effect pending the final determination or withdrawal of the appeal.

27E Comptroller may retain, copy and require explanation of document³⁴

Where information required by an information notice includes, or is contained in, a document, the Comptroller's power under Article 27B or 27C to obtain information includes the power –

- (a) to retain a document for so long as is reasonably necessary to permit a full and complete inspection of the document;
- (b) to take copies of the document;
- (c) to require an explanation of the document; and
- (d) if a document which the Comptroller reasonably expected to be produced is not produced, to require the recipient of an information notice to state, to the best of the recipient's knowledge or belief, where the document is.

27F Amounts and administration of penalties³⁵

- (1) A person who refuses or fails to comply with an information notice is liable to an initial penalty of an amount not exceeding £300.
- (2) A person who continues to refuse or to fail to comply with an information notice after receiving notice of an initial penalty is liable to a further penalty of an amount not exceeding £60 per day for the period during which the refusal or failure continues.
- (3) Where a person is liable to a penalty under this Article, the Comptroller may serve on the person a notice in writing specifying –
 - (a) the amount of the penalty, being such amount as the Comptroller considers to be reasonable in the circumstances;
 - (b) the grounds on which the penalty is imposed, and whether it is imposed under paragraph (1) or (2);
 - (c) where the penalty is imposed under paragraph (1), the person's potential liability to a further penalty under paragraph (2); and

- (d) the person's right to appeal against the penalty under Article 27G.
- (4) Subject to Article 27G, a person on whom a notice is served under this Article must pay the amount of the penalty no later than 40 days after the service of the notice.
- (5) The amount of a penalty is treated for all purposes, including collection and recovery, as if it were an amount of tax charged and payable under the Income Tax Law, except that the penalty –
 - (a) is not deductible for any purpose of the Income Tax Law; and
 - (b) is disregarded when determining the amount of a surcharge under Article 41I of that Law.

27G Appeals against penalty notices³⁶

- (1) A person who receives a notice under Article 27F(3) may appeal to the Commissioners against the notice by notifying the Comptroller in writing, no later than 40 days after the date of service of the notice, of the grounds on which the appeal is made.
- (2) The grounds on which an appeal may be made are –
 - (a) that the person has taken all reasonable steps to comply with the information notice giving rise to the penalty; and
 - (b) that the amount of the penalty is unreasonable.
- (3) No right of appeal arises if the information sought by the information notice consists of information required to be kept under any of the Revenue Laws.
- (4) In determining an appeal under this Article, the Commissioners may –
 - (a) confirm the imposition of the penalty and its amount;
 - (b) declare that the penalty was wrongly imposed;
 - (c) reduce the amount of the penalty; or
 - (d) amend or set aside the notice.
- (5) Part 6 of the Income Tax Law applies, with the necessary modifications, to an appeal under this Article as if it were an appeal under that Law against an assessment.
- (6) Where an appeal is made against a penalty notice, the notice is of no effect pending the final determination or withdrawal of the appeal.

27H Offence of concealing information etc.³⁷

- (1) This Article –
 - (a) applies to a person from whom the Comptroller has requested information as to the person's tax position or as to the tax position of any other person, whether or not the request is made by an information notice; but
 - (b) does not apply where the Comptroller has indicated to the person (whether in making the request or otherwise) that this Article does not apply.
- (2) If, knowingly and without reasonable excuse, a person to whom this Article applies alters, conceals, destroys or otherwise disposes of the information requested by the Comptroller, the person is guilty of an offence and liable to imprisonment for a term of 2 years and to a fine.

- (3) Despite paragraph (2), a person may alter, conceal, destroy or otherwise dispose of information requested by the Comptroller –
 - (a) where the request was not made by means of an information notice –
 - (i) after the end of the period of 12 months beginning with the date of the request, or
 - (ii) if the request is withdrawn, at any time after the withdrawal; or
 - (b) where the request was made by means of an information notice –
 - (i) with the permission of the Comptroller, or
 - (ii) where the Comptroller has refused such permission or has failed to respond to the person's request for permission, with the leave of the Royal Court upon an application made for that purpose to the Court.
- (4) This Article is without prejudice to the provisions of Part 6 or any requirement, under any other enactment, to keep records or retain information for the purposes of establishing a person's tax position.
