2 Claims made and determined before the appointed day

- (1) This Article applies to any household a member of which, immediately before the appointed day, was eligible for, and had claimed, any benefit or allowance, whether or not payable under any enactment, that ceases to be payable on the appointed day.
- (2) Any application or information furnished by or on behalf of a member of a household to which this Article applies in pursuance of a claim for income support before the appointed day shall be treated as a valid claim for income support under Article 6 of the General Provisions Order made on the appointed day.
- (3) Any purported determination of a claim mentioned in paragraph (2) made before the appointed day shall be treated as a determination under Article 12 of the General Provisions Order made on the appointed day.

3 Eligibility for protected payment

- (1) A household is eligible by reason of this paragraph for a payment under this Article known as a “protected payment” if –
  - (a) a member of that household, immediately before the appointed day, was eligible for, and had claimed, a replaced benefit;

- (b) the total payable to the household in respect of replaced benefits was at least £2 a week;
  - (c) a member of the household has made a claim for income support; and
  - (d) the household is entitled to such payment under Article 4.<sup>11</sup>
- (1A) A household is eligible by reason of this paragraph for a payment under this Article known as a “protected HIE payment” if –
- (a) a member of that household, immediately before the appointed day, was eligible for and had claimed an HIE;
  - (b) a member of the household has made a claim for income support; and
  - (c) the household is entitled to such payment under Article 4.<sup>12</sup>
- (2) A claim may be made for income support under this Article for the purpose of claiming a protected payment even though the person or household in question is not eligible for income support.
- (3) A protected payment is payable in addition to the amount of income support (if any) that a household is entitled to receive.
- (4) A claim for a protected payment must be made within one month of the appointed day unless the determining officer considers there is sufficient reason for the claim to be made after that date.
- (5) However, a claim for income support in respect of a household that is entitled to a protected HIE payment may be made at any time before 1st May 2008 or, if the determining officer considers that there is sufficient reason for the claim to be made after that date, before such later date as he or she shall determine.<sup>13</sup>

4 Calculation of protected payment

- (1) A protected payment is payable if the household is entitled to a top-up sum.
- (2) A top-up sum (also referred to in this Order as a “TUS”) is calculated by means of the formula –

$$RB - ADIS$$

where –

RB is the weekly amount of replaced benefits to which the household was entitled immediately before the appointed day; and

ADIS is the amount of income support (if any) to which the household was entitled on the appointed day.

- (2A) However, if the household is entitled to a protected HIE payment, the TUS is calculated by means of the formula –

$$(RB + RH) - ADIS$$

where –

RH is the sum of £1.96 multiplied by the number of individuals in the household who were, immediately before the appointed day, eligible for and had claimed HIE; and

RB and ADIS are the amounts to which paragraph (2) refers.<sup>14</sup>

- (3) A protected payment is calculated by means of the formula –

$$(CTUS + ADIS) - CIS$$

where –

CTUS is the amount of TUS remaining after any reduction that may be required from time to time by Article 5; and CIS is the current amount of income support to which the household is entitled.

- (4) Where the calculation in paragraph (3) results in a nil or negative amount, there shall be no further entitlement to a protected payment.

5 Change in entitlement to a protected payment

- (1) Where –

- (a) a household is entitled to a protected payment; and
 (b) the circumstances of the household change so that any replaced benefit, if it had not ceased to be payable on the appointed day, would nevertheless because of that change of circumstances cease to be payable,

the top-up sum shall be recalculated by means of the formula –

$$RRB - RADIS$$

where –

RRB is the weekly amount of replaced benefits to which the household would have been entitled immediately before the appointed day had the circumstances giving rise to the recalculation existed on the appointed day;

RADIS is the amount of income support (if any) to which the household would have been entitled on the appointed day had the circumstances giving rise to the recalculation existed on the appointed day.

- (1A) However, if the household is entitled to a protected HIE payment, the top-up sum shall be recalculated by means of the formula –

where –

RRH is the sum of £1.96 multiplied by the number of individuals in the household who, immediately before the appointed day, would have been eligible for HIE had the circumstances giving rise to the recalculation existed on the appointed day; and

RRB and RADIS are the amounts to which paragraph (1) refers.<sup>15</sup>

- (2) <sup>16</sup>

6 Reduction and phasing out of top-up sum<sup>17</sup>

- (1) This paragraph applies where a member of a household was eligible for attendance allowance, disabled adult's allowance or disabled child's allowance immediately before the appointed day and had claimed any such allowance.
- (2) Where paragraph (1) applies, the amount of a top-up sum to which a household is entitled each week during a period specified in column 1 of the table in the Schedule is the percentage of that TUS specified in column 2 in the same row of the table.
- (3) This paragraph applies where –
  - (a) paragraph (1) does not apply; and
  - (b) the calculated income of a household on the appointed day is more than 3 times the total amount payable in respect of all the components of income support to which the household is entitled under Article 5 of the Law.
- (4) <sup>18</sup>
- (5) This paragraph applies where –
  - (a) neither paragraph (1) nor paragraph (3) applies; and
  - (b)  $TUS > (CIH + ADIS) \times 25\%$where –

CIH is the calculated income of the household on the appointed day.
- (6) Where paragraph (5) applies, the amount of a top-up sum to which a household is entitled each week during a period specified in column 1 of the table in the Schedule is the percentage of that TUS specified in column 3 in the same row of the table.
- (7) This paragraph applies where –
  - (a) none of paragraphs (1), (3) and (5) applies; and
  - (b) a member of a household –
    - (i) is aged 65 or over on the appointed day, or
    - (ii) was eligible for disability transport allowance immediately before the appointed day and had claimed that allowance.
- (8) Where paragraph (7) applies, the amount of a top-up sum to which a household is entitled each week during a period specified in column 1 of the table in the Schedule, is the percentage of that TUS specified in column 4 in the same row of the table.
- (9) This paragraph applies where none of paragraphs (1), (3), (5) and (7) applies.
- (10) Where paragraph (9) applies, the amount of a top-up sum to which a household is entitled each week during a period specified in column 1 of the table in the Schedule is the percentage of that TUS specified in column 5 in the same row of the table.

7 Households receiving residential care

- (1) Where any part of a top-up sum relates to a household consisting entirely of persons receiving residential care, the top-up sum is not subject to any reduction under Article 6.
- (2) However, the household shall cease to be entitled to a protected payment when the Minister approves a contract providing for the payment of fees in respect of the household's residence at the home in which the care is provided.
